NATIONAL BANK NOTE REDEMPTION.

The circulating notes of the National Banks of the United States, amounted on the 1st of July, 1865, to over one hundred and thirty millions of dollars, issued by nearly thirteen hundred institutions, according to their official quarterly reports. This sum is rapidly increasing, and in the course of a few months will probably reach two hundred and fifty millions of dollars. These circulating notes should and will, in the ordinary routine of business, be returned to the respective points of issue for redemption. To mature a plan for the return and prompt redemption of thirty millions of circulating notes, issued by five hundred local State banks in the six States of New England, and of thirty millions issued by the banks of the State of New York, required the labor of years: but such a system was fully matured and has been in successful operation, suggested and perfected by the Suffolk Bank of Boston and the Metropolitan Bank of New York.

It was owing to the persistent efforts of these two institutions, that a par redemption was secured for nearly all the issues of the eight hundred banks of these seven States; and that numerous speculators and illegitimate bankers, doing business on the faith and credit of the regular banking institutions, were compelled to close their doors and their business. These eight hundred banking concerns, it must be remembered, were within a narrow circle, and were accessible with a few hours' delay by railroad and other speedy conveyances.

But the National bank issues of the present time form a much more extended volume of paper, issued by over fifteen hundred institutions, some of which are from six hundred to fifteen hundred miles from the commercial metropolis of the country. To mature a system whereby these issues may be promptly received at this commercial centre, whenever brought hither by the ordinary channels of trade, and their return effected to the numerous points of issue, without any disturbance of the money and business markets of the country, require more thought, more experience, more labor, and more capital, than were demanded in the arrangements in reference to the bank paper of New England and New York.

It is true that the country banks, under the National Act, are compelled by law (sec. 31, act of June 30, 1864) to maintain in lawful moneys, a sum equivalent at least to fifteen per cent. of their circulation and deposits, to meet the redemption of such currency and the demands of their creditors; and that three-fifths of such fifteen per cent. may consist of funds on deposit at one or more of the following places, viz.: 1, New York; 2, Philadelphia; 3, Boston; 4, Baltimore; 5, Pittsburgh; 6, Chicago; 7, Cincinnati; 8, Albany; 9, St. Louis; 10, Cleveland; 11, Washington, D. C.; 12, Louisville, Ky.; 13, Detroit; 14, Milwaukee; 15, New Orleans; 16, Richmond, Va.; 17, Leavenworth; 18, Charleston, S. C.; 19, San Francisco: but these deposits or funds are not available at New York for the redemption of these National issues, unless by special agreement such circulation may be sealed up and charged against these accumulated balances or deposits at New York. In fact, some of these fifteen hundred country banks may see fit to select the most remote depositories, as points for the redemption of their issues, which would subject the Eastern holder to considerable expense in the conversion of his National bank paper. This, however, is a remote contingency; for it may be presumed that few or none of the banks organized under the National Act will refuse to effect arrangements for the prompt redemption of their paper at the most available points.

The notes of the National banks are (sec. 23, act of June, 1864) receivable at par in all parts of the United States, in payment of taxes, excises, public lands, and all other dues to the United States, except for duties on imports. They are also a legal tender for all salaries and other debts and demands due by the United States to individuals and corporations, except for interest on the public debt and for the redemption of the national currency.

Those notes are also a legal tender by and to every National bank, "for any debt or liability to such association" (sec. 32). They are receivable on deposit by all National banks, acting as depositories of public money and financial agents of the Government, for internal revenue or for loans (sec. 45).

These provisions, it was thought, would provide ample channels for the active circulation of all the National bank bills, and prevent a too heavy accumulation of such bills at any one or more points.

But in view of the enormous amount of these issues, and the liability of their accumulation at one or more commercial places, a committee was appointed in May last, in behalf of the banks of Boston, New York, and Philadelphia, to prepare a plan of National bank note redemption and a plan for an assorting house.

This committee—consisting of Messrs. JONES, of the Chemical Bank; COE, of the American Exchange; CALHOUN, of the Fourth National; SMYTHE, of the Central National; VERMILYE, of the Merchants'; MACY, of the Leather Manufacturers', New York; ROGERS, of the Tradesmen's; CUMMINS, of the Girard; CATTELL, of the Corn Exchange Bank, Philadelphia; and A. T. HALL, of the Tremont; FORBES, of the National Redemption; STETSON, of the Shoe and Leather National; and WALLEY, of the Revere Bank, Boston;—met in the city of New York, on the 11th day of May, 1865, at 10 o'clock, A. M., for the purpose of conferring together in behalf of the banks of the three cities, upon the subject of National Bank note redemption.

The committee was organized by the appointment of ANDREW T. HALL as chairman, and WILLIAM A. CAMP, Manager of the Clearing House, as secretary.

After a full discussion, the following vote was unanimously adopted.

That Messrs. HALL, SMYTHE, COE, JONES, CUMMINS, ROGERS, and WALLEY, be a committee to recommend a general plan of Redemption of National Currency for the three cities, which shall make it imperative on the banks in New York, Philadelphia, and Boston, to receive on deposit the bills of all National banks which are redeemable in either of said three cities; which plan shall also include a separate redemption in New York, Philadelphia, and Boston, at par, of the bills of all banks which arrange for redemption in those cities. Also, the return of all National currency not redeemed in either of these cities to their respective locations for redemption, at the joint expense, pro rata, of the three cities; such currency to be forwarded by Philadelphia and Boston to New York, and all such currency to be sent home by New York; and that not less than forty days' notice shall be given when the system is to go into operation.

The sub-committee appointed by the above vote prepared the following as a general scheme for par redemption, upon the basis of said vote, and repaired to Washington to confer with the Hon. Secretary of the Treasury and the Comptroller of the Currency, as to its adoption:—

PLAN FOR A PAR REDEMPTION OF THE NATIONAL CURRENCY.

1st. The banks which are associated in the Clearing-Houses of the cities of New York, Philadelphia, and Boston, shall receive on deposit, at par, the bills of all National banks which make provision for the redemption of their bills at either of the above-named cities.

2d. Each of said three cities shall, from time to time, notify the other two (by the Clearing House or Redeeming Bank) of the names and locations of all the banks which redeem their bills in said city, and shall continue to receive for redemption the bills of all such banks, until they have notified such cities that they no longer redeem the bills of any particular bank designated in such notice, and all bills on hand, when said notice is received, are to be redeemed.

3d. The redeeming bank or banks, in each of said three cities, shall send to each of the other two cities the bills of the banks which provide for redemption in said cities respectively, to be by them returned to the banks which issued them.

4th. Not less than forty days' notice shall be given (which notice shall be signed by the committee of the Associated banks of the three cities) of this plan of par redemption, and that all bills shall be received at par on deposit, in all the banks of said three cities, which are redeemed in either of said cities, and that all bills not thus redeemed will be immediately sent home for redemption according to law.

5th. After the expiration of the time allowed by the aforesaid notice, all National currency, which may in any manner come into the possession of any bank in either city, for the redemption of which no provi sion shall have been made, either in New York, Philadelphia, or Boston, shall be forwarded to New York, and shall be sent home to its proper locality, by the Clearing or Sorting House in New York; the expenses of each city, in sending to the other, to be borne by the city forwarding the bills, and the expense incurred by New York in sending bills of non-redeeming banks to their respective locality, to be charged by New York, pro rata, to the banks of Philadelphia and Boston, so far as they may have sent such bills to New York.

The committee were pleased to find the gentlemen at Washington fully alive to the importance of this subject, and earnestly desirous that prompt and efficient measures should be speedily adopted to secure and establish a well-arranged system of regular and efficient redemption of the National currency.

They were impressed with the opinion, that in order to the permanency and stability of this currency, as entitled to the character of being truly National, it was of the utmost importance that all concerned in the management of these banks should feel a deep solicitude to guard the system from any danger to which it would be exposed from a want of foresight and seasonable preparation.

They felt, also, in common with the committee, that the return of peace must bring about such marked and rapid changes in the financial condition of the country, as would demand the most earnest and vigilant circumspection of the currency, its elasticity, and readiness; not for convertibility, but for payment, on presentation, in the lawful money of the country.

They felt that the return of the Army and Navy, and the withdrawal of the Government from the market as a purchaser, must of necessity throw a large amount of this currency, which now has a scattered and national circulation, upon the communities and banks by whom it was issued; thus calling for rapid and large redemptions, and that as this return is to take place at once, it is wise to take immediate measures to call attention to the subject, and have the banks and the merchants prepared for the change and contraction, which peace, and a return to the normal condition of things, must soon effect.

The heads of the Currency Department at Washington have promised to lend all the aid in their power, and afford every facility to the banks, in securing such a system of redemption, as will cause every bank, that issues a bill, to feel bound by a regard to its own self-preservation, as well as good name, to be provided with the means of payment on presentation.

They are fully aware that in no other manner can the system continue to provide a genuine "National Currency," and thus to fulfil the promises and predictions of the founders and sanguine friends of the National organization.

It is now for the banks, therefore, to move with harmony and vigor, assured that they have the countenance and support of the Government.

In the arrangement of the necessary details for the management of this financial scheme, time and experience are important elements.

We must commence with what knowledge we possess, and trust to time and continued trials to expose errors and suggest improvements.

Your committee have had interviews with the leading Express agents, and while they have not been able to agree upon definite rates, owing to the want of authority, on the part of your committee, to contract on any terms, they are assured by these gentlemen, that there will be no practical difficulty likely to arise in the arrangement of a tariff of prices for the work to be performed by them.

The expenses incurred by the interchanges between the three cities must, of course, be borne proportionately, as it may appear on trial what amount each city imposes of the labor and expense necessary to the full accomplishment of thorough and prompt redemption.

These expenses can only be approximated by very general estimates till the experiment has been tested.

Those conversant with the daily business of transmitting bills can form a general estimate of cost per thousand.

The undersigned will suggest an additional article of agreement to those contained in the previous general scheme for par redemption, viz.: that it shall be obligatory upon banks of the Association not to pay out National Bank notes other than those issued by banks of the three cities, and that the Associated banks decline to receive from bank correspondents the notes of banks which shall refuse to redeem in one of the three cities; although they take such bills at their counters on deposit from regular customers as long as required by law to receive them in payment of debts due to banks.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

July, 1865.

PLAN FOR AN ASSORTING HOUSE IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK, PROPOSED BY THE COMMITTEE OF SIXTEEN BANK OFFICERS, JULY, 1865.

1st. Appoint a committee of nine bank officers, who may be styled the Redemption Committee of the Associated Banks, who shall receive from the several members of the Clearing-House Association such National bank notes as they may desire to deposit with them for redemption, and who shall be empowered to issue for such notes certificates, to be called redemption certificates, which shall bear interest at the rate of six per centum per annum, to be paid by the banks to whom the certificates are issued.

Such certificates shall be available for Clearing House purposes, in the settlement of balances, and shall state on their face that they are payable only in coin or United States legal tender notes.

The interest received by the committee on said certificates to be paid monthly to the banks, according as they may have held the same, each bank being required to report daily to the manager of the Clearing House the amount held by it.

The certificates to be signed by at least three of the committee.

The issue of certificates not to exceed ninety per cent. of the deposit of National bank notes.

The committee to issue a receipt for the remaining ten per cent., to be paid after the redemption and cancellation of the certificates issued of that date.

2d. Establish an Assorting House, under the direction of a manager, with such clerks as may be necessary, who shall be appointed by the committee, give such bonds as they may require, be subject to, and under the control of, said committee.

The currency received by said committee to be delivered to said manager (under such restrictions as the committee may deem necessary for the safety and protection of the banks), to be assorted and forwarded for redemption to the banks issuing the same, or to their redeeming banks, except such banks as redeem in New York, Boston, or Philadelphia, those redeeming in Boston and Philadelphia to be sent to the Assorting House in those cities, and those in New York, through the Clearing House, as hereinafter provided.

3d. The committee shall call in for payment and cancellation, each morning, the certificates, in the order in which they were issued, in pro rata proportion, to the amount of legal tender notes received by the committee for redemption, and interest shall cease on such certificates from the date of the issue of a notice to that effect by the committee.

4th. The committee shall have a desk assigned them at the Clearing House, through which the retirement of certificates, the redemption of notes redeemable in New York, and the return of the ten per cent. margin, can be made daily.

5th. The expenses of the Assorting House, of the committee, and for the redemption of notes, shall be paid by each bank availing itself of its privileges, in exact proportion to the amount delivered to the Assorting House, to be drawn for by the committee or their secretary, on the first day of each month, or as soon thereafter as the expenses can be ascertained and apportioned.

6th. Should any bank fail to redeem its notes when presented for that purpose by an agent of the committee, said committee shall have power to take such action as they may deem necessary for their redemption, under the National banking law, and the loss or expense attending such action by said committee shall be borne in the same manner and proportion as the regular expenses of the Assorting House. Should any loss occur from fire, robbery, defalcation, or from any other cause not provided for in this plan, such loss shall be borne, pro rata, to the amount received from each bank, based on the average of the previous thirty days' transactions with the Assorting House.

7th. Bank notes redeemable at New Orleans, Leavenworth, San Francisco, or any point south of Cairo, west of the Mississippi River, unless redeemable in one of the three cities before mentioned, shall not be received on deposit by the Associated Banks; and should any such notes be found in the packages deposited for assorting and redemption, such notes shall be returned by the committee, through the Clearing House, to the bank from whom they were received.

8th. All deposits of currency made with the committee must be in sealed packages of not over $5,000, except packages containing notes of the denomination of $50 and upwards, which may be put in packages of $10,000 or $20,000 each, and in all cases in even thousands, distinctly marked with the amount, the name of the bank depositing them, and bearing its seal; and all such deposits must be made before 11 o'clock, A. M., on each day.

Reclamations can be made for amounts short, counterfeits, &c., at any time previous to the cancellation of the certificates issued for the packages from which the reclamation is made.

9th. Each bank, acting as agent for the redemption of the notes of any other bank, shall from time to time notify the committee of the names and locations of all the banks for whom they redeem, and shall continue to redeem the bills of all such banks until they have notified the committee that they no longer redeem the bills of any particular bank designated in such notice; and all bills on hand in the Assorting House in New York, Boston, or Philadelphia, when said notice is received, are to be redeemed by the bank giving such notice.

10th. While the Assorting House is in operation, no National Bank notes, other than New York city bank notes, shall be sent through the Clearing House in the exchanges, and no member of the Associated Banks shall pay out over its counter any National Bank notes, other than those issued by the New York city banks, except in payments to the Government.

11th. Banks not members of the Clearing House Association, who now or hereafter make their exchanges through other banks, members thereof, shall be required, as a condition of continuance, to co-operate with the Association in this plan for the redemption of National Currency.

The Report was laid upon the table by a vote of the Clearing House at New York, July, 1865, and will be taken up at a future day for consideration.

FRAUDS ON BANKS.

The recent frauds on the Commercial Bank of Pennsylvania, and the Mercantile Bank of New York, and the yet more recent and extraordinary fraud on the Phenix Bank, of New York, must induce bank managers to scrutinize more closely the character and conduct of their employés, and to place additional safeguards against further fraud of the kind. The case of the Phenix Bank involves a loss of about three hundred thousand dollars. The evidence so far given shows that the officer who has committed the crime had for a long time been known to be a frequent visitor of disreputable places in this city.

A correspondent of one of the daily papers sends the following suggestions pertinent to the recent bank defalcation:—

1. The receiving and paying tellers should change desks alternate days, each thereby becoming more familiar with the customers, their character, standing, and the nature of their business.

2. When the cash is balanced after the business of the day, the alternate should be called to witness and sign and certify to its correctness by actual count and inspection.

3. The bookkeepers should alternate at least twice a week. It should make no difference to a bookkeeper whether he posts A to J or P to Z. It may take them a little longer at first to become familiar with the folios of the different ledgers, but even that might be avoided by the one most familiar with a particular ledger indexing for his successor to post.

Had this course been pursued (and it is so simple that it is a wonder bank officers have not thought of it before) there could have been no Mercantile, Phenix, or Union Bank defalcations, developing themselves after months of successful concealment.

These suggestions, if acted upon, would no doubt remedy the risks which now exist. If a bank clerk is aware that daily supervision and careful scrutiny into his private and official conduct prevail among his superiors, he will be more cautious and exact in both his personal and official relations. On the contrary, if the managers of a bank neglect to scrutinize closely the conduct of their subordinates, the latter will be more apt to allow looseness in their accounts, and to permit improper influence and interference from outside parties. A bank teller is peculiarly liable to be approached by outside parties who wish to obtain temporary assistance to carry on some financial enterprise.

Such, however, is the liability of every banking institution to fraud by its officers, that it is bound to take collateral security to cover losses of this kind. A guarantee society has been for some years in operation in London, to furnish guarantee to banks and others for the faithful conduct of their clerks; charging a percentage on the amount required. The following remarks from the London Economist of July last are appropriate at this time; and are entitled to the consideration of banking and other institutions:—

"A very useful undertaking has just been commenced in Lombard street. For many years past it has been more and more the practice of bankers to require security from the clerks whom they engage in their service, and that security has been of two kinds—either the security of some friend or relation, or that of a guarantee society. Both of these are, however, subject to some objections. The security of a relative is subject to the worst of all objections—the banker does not get his money. The relative is almost always a person of comparatively small means, and when it comes to the point the banker cannot, and does not, sue him in order to make up a petty deficiency. He charges off the defalcation just as if he had no security whatever. A theory has prevailed that a clerk whose relative was bound for him, would not take money, because that relative might be made answerable. But nine-tenths of the people who commit fraud do not expect to be found out at all; and experience shows that banks which require private security are just as much subject to frauds as those which take the security of guarantee societies.

"These societies, too, have a characteristic defect. They are companies which wish to make profit in an unknown region. No one very accurately knows what proportion of people commit frauds, and what proportion do not commit them. Insurance against crime is now what life insurance was when the duration of human life was comparatively uncertain. It is a pursuit in which a company deriving profit must necessarily take a 'large margin,' as the phrase goes—must, in plain English, charge a good deal. Such a company, too, must take various sorts of business, or it would have nothing to do; and as it charges a pretty uniform premium, the most respectable classes in fact pay for the offences and sins of the less respectable. Bankers' clerks are said to be, and we believe commonly are, of a particularly respectable class, and the number of frauds among them is very small. Bankers' clerks, therefore, who are compelled to insure their honesty in the company pay, first, a considerable profit to the company, and next, a sufficient compensation for the frauds of less honest classes.

"To get rid of this tax on these clerks, a few banks, such as the Bank of England, and the London and County, have formed a guarantee fund of their own, to which their clerks subscribe, and to which we believe they themselves give a donation by way of beginning. But the clerks in most banks do not like this system. It ties them to the bank. What they have paid to the fund in bank A necessarily counts for nothing; when they 'better themselves' by going to bank B, they have to begin paying over again.

"Accordingly, a scheme has been started in which all banks might combine for a single fund, to which their clerks should pay, and which they should all accept as a sufficient security. This would be as universally accepted as the guarantee of a company, and will enable a clerk who pays to it to migrate from bank to bank just as he likes, and if the promoters can carry out their intention, it will have a still further advantage. The insurance is to be a mutual insurance. All profits made by the fund—and it is necessary to charge such rates that they must almost certainly make some—are to belong to the clerks who insure. So that if a clerk is charged too much by way of premium to secure his honesty, the profit so made does not go to a guarantee society, but comes back to him, if he continues honest. He gets himself the money which, in the other case, a company makes by means of him.

"If this system should become general, it will also have a very beneficial effect in lessening the amount of fraud committed; all the clerks in a bank will be injured by the fraud of every clerk. Every defalcation will be debited to an account which is their property. They will have to pay for all frauds; the sum to be divided among them will be much, if other clerks are honest, and little, if they are dishonest. The instinct and interest, therefore, of all clerks will be to protect the fund, and the chance of fraud will be diminished, because those nearest at hand, who have the best means of watching for it and seeing after it, will be very eager to prevent it as far as they can. As, therefore, this fund will lessen the tax on clerks to insure against fraud, and also lessen fraud itself, we shall hope to hear of its complete success."

Important to Banks.

In the Court of Common Pleas for New York City, the following interesting case has just been decided:—

Edward Carn vs. The Tradesmen's Bank.—On the 23d of June, 1864, Messrs. Benheim & Litman, of this city, drew their check on the Tradesmen's Bank for $40,000, in favor of the plaintiff, and payable to his order. Plaintiff indorsed it by stamping on the back of the check the words, "For deposit in the Bank of America," and signing his name underneath. The check was placed in a bank book with other checks, and sent to the bank for deposit. On the way to the Bank of America the plaintiff's clerk lost this check out of the book. An hour afterward it was presented at the Tradesmen's Bank for payment, with two red lines drawn through the stamped words "For deposit in the Bank of America." The paying teller required a certificate to the indorsement of the plaintiff, which the holder of the check fraudulently procured, and it was then paid by the Tradesmen's Bank, without reference to or inquiries concerning the erased stamp. The bank declined to make restitution to plaintiff, and he commenced this action to recover the amount and interest. In submitting the case to the jury on the above facts, his Honor charged them that the words, "For deposit in the Bank of America" did not operate as a special or restrictive indorsement of the check, but if they found that the Tradesmen's Bank had made no inquiries in regard to the circumstances, taking into consideration the evidence, they must find for the plaintiff, as the stamped indorsement was enough to put the defendants upon special inquiry before they paid the check to an unknown holder. The jury found for the plaintiff for $42,384.

III.—THE APPORTIONMENT OF NATIONAL BANK CAPITAL.

Treasury Department, Office of Comptroller of the Currency,
Washington, August 9, 1865.

Dear Sir :—Your letter of the 8th instant is received. The amendment to section twenty-one of the Currency Act, passed March 3, 1865, provided that $150,000,000 of the amount of circulation contemplated by said act, should be apportioned to the different States, according to representative population, and $150,000,000 according to existing banking capital, resources, and business of the several States. The amount allotted to New York, upon representative population, was $18,538,500; to Pennsylvania, $13,882,500; Ohio, $11,173,500. Upon existing bank capital, resources, business, &c., to New York, $34,935,000; Pennsylvania, $12,645,000; Ohio, $6,450,000; giving an aggregate, under the apportionment, to New York of $53,473,500; to Pennsylvania of $26-527,500; and to Ohio, $17,628,500.

On the same day in which this amendment was passed, another amendment was added, providing that State banks, having a capital not less than $75,000, should have the right of conversion to the national system, over new organizations, until July 1, 1865. Accordingly, State banks were allowed to accept the provisions of the national currency act up to that date. The result has been to give to New York $73,073,652, Pennsylvania, $40,366,996, and Ohio, $18,487,500, which is an excess in New York of $19,600,152, in Pennsylvania of $13,839,196, and in Ohio of $864,000. These figures are made from our books, as they stood on the 1st inst. You will observe that Pennsylvania, having exceeded her apportionment by over thirteen millions, is not equitably entitled to any additional sum; and as the entire amount of national currency provided for in the law will be absorbed by banks already organized, or which have received authority to organize, it is now impossible to consider new applications.

Trusting this statement will be a satisfactory answer to your inquiries, I am, very respectfully,

H. R. HULBURD, Deputy Comptroller.

It will be observed that the apportioned and the actual capital in the three leading States stand thus:—

New York	$53,473,500	$73,073,652	$19,600,152
Pennsylvania	26,527,500	40,366,996	13,839,496
Ohio	17,623,500	18,487,500	864,000

IV.—CIRCULATION OF MINNESOTA BANKS.

Letter from the Comptroller of the Currency.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF THE COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY,
WASHINGTON, July 15, 1865.

DEAR SIR:—Your letter of the 19th ult., enclosing resolutions of the Bankers' Association of the State of Minnesota, is received.

I find here represented one or more banks of places in which national banks have been organized, others to whom promises have been given for the organization of national banks in their stead. It somehow seems to be the object of these gentlemen to convey the idea that Minnesota has not received, and was not obtaining, her just and fair proportion of the national circulation. Such is not the case. She already has more than her quota under an equitable apportionment. It is true that her banks, being mostly small ones, have not been able to avail themselves of the privileges given to the State banks by the law of the last session, to absorb circulation largely in excess of the amount due to the State; but she has as much as, in my judgment, her bankers will wish to have when the system of redemption now being inaugurated shall have gone into operation.

If I mistake not, there will be in the future an opportunity for the organization of more banks, if they are required.

When all the banks are called upon to redeem their circulation, as rapidly and as often as it shall return to the commercial centres, the matter of circulation will adjust itself, and many banks will find (perhaps some of those in your State) that they have more than they require, thus giving an opportunity for the organization of banks in places where they may be needed.

Banks have already been organized in the Northern States sufficient to absorb more than all the circulation to which the North is entitled. What little there is left must go to the South.

Very respectfully,

F. CLARKE, Comptroller.

Hon. IGNATIUS DONNELLY, St. Paul, Minnesota.

DECISION IN REFERENCE TO SAVINGS BANKS.

WASHINGTON, July 27, 1865.

SIR:—I reply to your letter of 21st inst., that the deposits of a Savings Bank, having no capital stock, may be so far regarded as capital as to allow the deduction of the amount of such deposits invested in United States bonds.

The surplus fund should also be regarded as capital, and added to the amount of deposits from which the amount of bonds is subtracted. Where a savings bank credits its deposits with interest, the mount thus credited should be treated as a deposit, and returned accordingly.

Only such Government securities as are set forth in decision No. 140, should be deducted from "average amount of deposits held." This, you will observe, does not include 7 3-10 notes and certificates of indebtedness.

Very respectfully,

E. H. ROLLINS, Deputy Commissioner.

ISAAC W. SMITH, Esq., Assessor Second District, Manchester, N. H.

The difference in the above totals is occasioned by two banks having failed to make balances—both are closing.

Of the three hundred and nine banks reported for June 25, 1864, one (incorporated) has surrendered its charter by legislative authority, one (association) has discontinued banking business, and one hundred and eighty-three have been converted into National banks. The present report for June 24 will contain statements from one hundred and eighty-four banks; a considerable number of which have since perfected their papers and become national institutions: and a small number have given notice of finally closing their banking business.

It will be observed that the aggregate capital is less now than it was in 1860–1864, and the circulation and loans are also reduced more than one-half.

BANK NOTE REDEMPTION.

A LETTER from a cashier of one of the National Banks to the editor, says:—

"I saw a slip, printed, received from the Treasury Department, which, I must confess, somewhat astonished me: stating that the interest-bearing notes (though they were legal tender) are not a 'lawful money reserve' for circulation, but are such for deposits only."

Our correspondent will find, on reference to the law of June 30, 1864, that this ruling is in strict conformity with the act. (See "LOAN ACTS OF CONGRESS," published at the office of THE BANKERS' MAGAZINE, pp. 82, 83.) This is a matter of some consequence, when we consider that the aggregate circulation of the National Banks is now (August, 1865) about one hundred and seventy millions of dollars, all of which is redeemable at nineteen places designated in the National Bank Act. Congress obviously intended that the banks shall not hoard these compound-interest notes; to hold them, while bearing interest, as a reserve against their own circulation; but that such compound notes should remain in the hands of the people.

The provisions of the act of June 30, 1864, bearing on this point, are as follows (section second):—

"And the said Treasury notes may be disposed of by the Secretary of the Treasury, on the best terms that can be obtained, for lawful money; and such of them as shall be made payable, principal and interest, at maturity, shall be a legal tender to the same extent as United States notes for their face value, excluding interest, and may be paid to any creditor of the United States at their face value, excluding interest, or to any creditor willing to receive them at par, including interest; and any Treasury notes issued under the authority of this act may be made convertible, at the discretion of the Secretary of the Treasury, into any bonds issued under the authority of this act." * * * *

"Nor shall any Treasury note, bearing interest, issued under this act, be a legal tender in payment or redemption of any notes issued by any bank, banking association, or banker, calculated to circulate as money." —(Act of June 30, 1864.)

The following table, compiled from official sources, will show that on the 1st July last the circulation issued by the banks at the nineteen redemption places named in the act, was about forty-six millions, and at other places about eighty-four millions: the whole of which is redeemable at the places named:—

CURIOUS CASE.—A curious record was tried on Monday at the assizes for Londonderry. In the month of June, 1862, Mr. Lyle, Manager of the Ulster Bank at Strabane, agreed, in the course of a conversation with a gentleman named Miller, to call his next son after him, and the latter, in return, promised £1,000 for the education of the child. Miller accepted a bill of exchange for the amount, payable two years after date "for value received," but he died before it came due. Lyle then consulted with a solicitor, Mr. Wilson, and although this gentleman was doubtful whether the sum could be recovered from the executors of the deceased, he bought the bill, and paid £1,000 for it. Wilson afterward indorsed the bill for value to a Mr. Samuel Dunn, who now sought to recover the amount from Miller's executors. They defended the action on the ground that there was no valuable consideration for the acceptance, and that it had been obtained by fraud, to the knowledge of Wilson and Dunn. The jury found a verdict for the executors. They were of opinion that, though there had been no fraud, the indorsement of the bill had been taken for the sake of putting it in the suit, and not in the ordinary course of business.

FRAUDS AND ROBBERIES.

I. Ketchum, Son & Co.

The most astounding and extensive fraud ever known in this country was made public on Tuesday, August 15th. The suspension was announced of the banking firm of Ketchum, Son & Co., No. 40 Exchange Place, whose business for many years had been on a large scale, and their credit and character were at all times of the highest order.

The first developments were made on Monday afternoon, August 14th, when the fact was proclaimed that a number of forged gold certificates were in circulation, drawn upon the Bank of New York, which is the special depository of the gold brokers. The news, as may easily be imagined, created the most intense excitement, and at night so great was the anxiety of the most experienced and cool-headed speculators to dispose of their gold, that no less than eight hundred thousand dollars changed hands. From the few items of information which could be elicited at that time, it appeared that these checks had been issued in the name of several prominent city firms, including Vermilye & Co., Brockelmann & Unger, Lockwood & Co., Einstein & Rosenfeld, and others, and it was reported that these checks were only to be used as collateral for loans, with the express understanding that they were not to be allowed circulation on the street. Their total value was at first estimated at no less than two million five hundred thousand dollars.

The checks were genuine, abstracted from the gold-check book of Mr. Charles Graham, the broker of the firm; the signatures and indorsements being fraudulent.

The books for gold-checks are furnished only by the Bank of New York to their own customers, and hence the checks pass freely among the gold dealers. The following is the form of the gold-checks, and one of those fraudulently filled up by Mr. Ketchum, Jr.:

$5,000.

LOCKWOOD & CO.

Across the entire face of the draft, which is beautifully engraved and printed in blue, upon white paper of the finest quality, and extending nearly its whole length, is printed the word "GOLD," in bronze, the type used being of the style denominated old English. As an additional safeguard against counterfeiting, the amount—generally $5,000—is written with a pen across the whole letter-press of the document. All that is wanting to make a gold check like the above transferable from hand to hand, after the manner of a check payable to bearer, or common bank bills, is the signature of the banker or depositor, a duplicate of which is kept at the Bank of New York for protection against forgeries. For the convenience of large dealers in gold, regular check-books, or sheets of printed blank checks, are provided by the Bank of New York, of the above form, which are given out to the bankers in limited amounts, the cashier retaining a record of private numbers of his own, which he affixes upon each blank, by which he may immediately recognize the source from whence it comes, when it may be presented for further filling up at his desk as the representative of an actual gold deposit. The gold-check system was started to prevent frauds, at a time when gold was disposed of simply by weight, and it was found that some adroit rogues had a manner of filling the middle of their small pouches with lead, copper coins, and other base metals, claiming all to be pure gold. The system has obviated much delay, inconvenience, and loss on the part of gold brokers; although it has, unfortuately, led to the commission of the crime now recorded.

So far as the interested parties have been able to ascertain, the losses of the house of KETCHUM, SON & Co. will amount to over two millions five hundred thousand dollars. As the lists of the securities were not kept, it has been impossible, up to the present moment, to determine the value of the missing papers. The abstracted securities were not exclusively the property of dealers with the banking house, but belonged in part, it is said, to the firm. Messrs. KETCHUM & Co. are placing in bank, to the credit of the remitters, all funds sent to the firm. They will hold themselves responsible for the missing securities, owing to the fact that they were abstracted by a member of the firm, though it is doubtful that the law could compel them to guarantee their recovery, inasmuch as the name of the firm was used only once by EDWARD KETCHUM, when he obtained upon a check, the very day of his flight, the sum of three hundred thousand dollars.

The losses of Mr. CHARLES GRAHAM, who acted as broker for EDWARD KETCHUM, will, it is presumed, be more than equal to a million of dollars. In his own name he had hypothecated for Mr. KETCHUM forged gold certificates to the amount above stated. Other certificates received from Mr. KETCHUM, equivalent in value to upward of eight hundred thousand dollars, have, since the discovery of the defalcation, been pronounced genuine, after having been submitted to minute examination. Mr. GRAHAM, it is announced, is making the necessary preparations to effect an early settlement with his creditors.

Mr. MORRIS KETCHUM, senior partner of the firm, on being called upon, declared that he had no desire to make a formal statement, though he might possibly conclude, at some future time, to do so. He merely remarked: "My son EDWARD has committed a great crime. He has taken from me between two and three millions in securities—the assets of the house—besides, I fear, doing other wrongs of great magnitude in connection with the gold checks."

The fraudulent gold checks were hypothecated by Mr. E. B. KETCHUM, with the Importers and Traders' National Bank, to the extent of $335,000; with the Fourth National Bank, $255,000; Messrs. DABNEY, MORGAN & Co., $100,000; and with various other parties. The Importers and Traders' Bank issued the following card:—

IMPORTERS AND TRADERS' NATIONAL BANK,
NEW YORK, August 16, 1865.

Various rumors are in circulation in regard to losses sustained by different parties, on account of the recently-developed forged checks, and, among others, the name of this bank is mentioned. I would state, for the information of the public, that this bank holds $335,000 of these said to be forged checks, as collateral security for loans; which amount, should it prove an entire loss, is nearly covered by the present surplus and earnings.

JAMES BUELL, President.

The officers of the Importers and Traders' National Bank have issued the following:—

FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS REWARD.—The Importers and Traders' National Bank will pay the above reward for the arrest and commital to prison of EDWARD B. KETCHUM, who is supposed to have absconded, after having committed extensive forgeries of gold checks in this city. He is twenty-five years of age, about five feet six inches high, thick set, with full, round face, short neck, hazel eyes, pug nose, full at the end, dark brown hair and mustache, weighs about one hundred and sixty-five pounds, and has a nervous and restless deportment.

JAMES BUELL, President.

New York, Aug. 18, 1865.

Mr. E. B. Ketchum was arrested by police officers on Friday evening, August 25th. The whole liabilities, assets, loans, &c., which belong to the Ketchum defalcation, are nearly as follows:—Liabilities of Morris Ketchum & Co. and Charles Graham & Co., including the redeemed checks held by the latter, six million seven hundred thousand dollars. Amount of assets of both houses, about three and a quarter million dollars. Deducting the value of the forged checks held by Mr. Graham, the total present liabilities of both houses are five millions three hundred and fifty thousand dollars. The extent of the abstraction of bonds and the forgery of gold paper by young Ketchum was, according to these figures, $4,200,000.

The Fourth National Bank issued the following notice:—

The suspension of the house of KETCHUM, SON & Co., the senior partner of which was formerly president of this bank, has given rise to a report that the bank will be a heavy loser by that house. It affords the undersigned pleasure to assure the friends of the bank and the public, that KETCHUM, SON & Co. are not now, and never have been, in any way indebted to the bank. The only possible loss the bank can suffer is on $255,000 of gold certificates which are supposed to be forged, and which the bank holds as collateral security on loans made to other parties. The condition of the bank is perfectly sound, and its capital unimpaired; its earnings for the last six months largely exceed the amount of forged certificates held by it.

P. C. CALHOUN, President.

This Bank has since declared a regular dividend of four per cent.

In addition to the issues of fraudulent gold checks, it is stated that Mr. E. B. KETCHUM, the junior partner of the firm, has abstracted a large amount of negotiable securities, belonging mainly to the firm, but belonging also to bankers in other cities.

The losses of the firm were of such magnitude, that an assignment was made for the benefit of their creditors.

Upon the application of creditors of MORRIS KETCHUM & Co., Judge SUTHERLAND, of the Supreme Court at New York, granted attachments against the firm property. The affidavits set forth that MORRIS KETCHUM and EDWARD B. KETCHUM were copartners; that MORRIS KETCHUM was a non-resident, and EDWARD B. KETCHUM an absconding debtor. The sheriff placed these processes in the hands of deputy MURPHY, who has attached the following real estate belonging to MORRIS KETCHUM: The premises Nos. 3 and 5 Broad street; the premises No. 25½ Wall street; house and lot in Thirty-eighth street, near Fifth avenue; house and lot in Thirty-eighth street, near Fourth avenue; the house and lot No. 424 Fifth avenue. The real estate is estimated at over half a million of dollars; but the assignment takes precedence of all attachments by creditors.

Mr. CHARLES GRAHAM, senior partner of the house of GRAHAM & Co., stated at the board, on Tuesday, the 15th, that he had been prevented from attending to the affairs of his firm, for the past two months, by sickness, and was therefore unable to account for many things which had occurred during his absence, but added that he hoped to effect a settlement of all his present stock contracts at current prices.

II. THE PHENIX BANK.

Mr. HENRY B. JENKINS, the second teller of the Phenix National Bank, was arrested on Thursday, 10th August, at the instance of the president and cashier of the bank. Mr. J. is charged with having fraudulently abstracted about $300,000 of the funds of the bank. The examination of Mr. JENKINS, and of parties implicated with him, is now going on, and the results will be made known in a future number.

CARD FROM THE CASHIER.

PHENIX NATIONAL BANK OF NEW YORK, August 11, 1865.

Inasmuch as several of the newspapers of this city have erroneously stated that the first teller of this bank was connected with the defalcation just discovered, we desire to state that the guilty party was the second teller, acting as paying teller during the first teller's temporary absence from the city, and we shall feel obliged by your publishing this correction.

III. THE TOWNSEND SAVINGS BANK, NEW HAVEN.

On the 22d of May last, the Townsend Savings Bank, of New Haven, State of Connecticut, was robbed of $100,000, by a young man named JEREMIAH TOWNSEND, who was employed as a clerk in the establishment. TOWNSEND, who was a distant relation of the managers of the bank, was, at his own request, left in the office after closing hours on the evening of the 21st of May—he stating that he was desirous of posting up his books. The money in the bank was placed in a fire-proof safe, which was fastened by a "combination" lock—an ingenious contrivance used in banking and mercantile houses in America. TOWNSEND had a key to the safe; but unless he was in possession of the "combination"—an arrangement of certain letters—he would not be able to open it. He managed to obtain the combination from one of the head clerks, and, while in the bank by himself, he opened the safe and stole $115,000 in notes, &c. The robbery was discovered next day. The thief was arrested in Liverpool, early in August, and has been brought back to New Haven.

IV. THE MUMFORD FRAUD.

Mr. PETER R. MUMFORD, who has been doing business as a gold broker at No. 57 Exchange Place, New York, for some time past, was brought before Justice DOWLING under arrest, upon an affidavit made against him on Monday, August 14th, by Mr. CORNELIUS WARD, of the firm of GREENLEAF, MORRIS & Co., of No. 44 Exchange Place, bankers and brokers. The avidavit charges that Mr. MUMFORD defrauded the above firm to the amount of twenty-eight thousand two hundred dollars by means of a worthless check for that sum drawn on the Mechanic's Bank of New York, and which was supposed by the firm to be an equivalent to twenty thousand dollars in gold coin purchased of them by Mr. MUMFORD the preceding Saturday. Upon presenting the check at the bank, however, they were informed that the requisite funds were not there to Mr. MUMFORD's credit, and payment was consequently refused. There were various other checks of a similar kind, held by different brokers, which were not paid. The following complaint was made at the Tombs:—

Police Court, First District, City and County of New York.—CORNELIUS WARD, of No. 44 Exchange Place, being duly sworn, deposes and says, that on the 12th day of August, 1865, at the city and county of New York, he received from PETER R. MUMFORD the paper hereunto annexed, purporting to be a check drawn by himself to the order of GREENLEAF, MORRIS & Co., for the sum of twenty-eight thousand two hundred dollars, in payment for gold sold and delivered to him to the amount of twenty thousand dollars. Deponent has since been informed that there were no funds in the bank upon which it is drawn to meet the same, and that it is worthless.

CORNELIUS WARD.

Sworn to before me this 14th day of August, 1865.
JOSEPH DOWLING, Police Justice.

The check referred to in the affidavit was annexed to the same. It is numbered 4,301, calls for $28,200, to the order of GREENLEAF, MORRIS & Co., is signed "P. R. MUMFORD," and indorsed on the back, "For deposit, GREENLEAF, MORRIS & Co.

This case is now before the Police Court of this city.

V. THE AMERICAN EXCHANGE BANK.

The American Exchange National Bank of New York City offer a reward of ten thousand dollars for the recovery of forty thousand dollars in 7 3-10 Treasury Notes, dated June 15, 1865, and numbered 111,653 to 111,732 inclusive; bonds, $500 each.

The public are cautioned against negotiating these bonds, as payment has been stopped. These bonds or notes were abstracted from the bank during the temporary absence of one of the clerks.

VI. THE ONTARIO BANK, MONTREAL.

Recently, when the ocean steamship was preparing to sail from the port of Montreal for Liverpool, detectives were busily engaged in searching among the passengers for a youth named DINWOODIE, charged with stealing $9,000 belonging to the Ontario Bank, Montreal. The search, however, was unsuccessful; but in the course of the forenoon, intelligence was received here to the effect that the delinquent had been arrested near Montreal. DINWOODIE is only about seventeen years of age, and was employed by the Ontario Bank as a messenger. He was sent to the American Express Company's office about two o'clock on Friday afternoon, with a package containing $9,000 in bank bills for Quebec. Instead of delivering it to the Express, the young thief decamped hastily.

VII. BANK SAFE.

An ingenious contrivance has been invented in England, by a Mr. ADOLPHE BAAB, to prevent robberies from iron safes or other depositories of property. It consists of an electrical apparatus, which, by the ordinary system of telegraphic street wires, can be placed in communication with the nearest police station, and which, on the slightest attempt to tamper with any part of the safe, will sound an alarm, and not only inform the police that a robbery is in progress, but acquaint them, by means of a number, with the precise safe that is being attacked.

BANK ITEMS.

New York.—Mr. EDWARD HAND, who has been connected with the Banking Department of the State of New York since its first organization, and for the last fourteen years its Deputy Superintendent, has been appointed Superintendent of this department by Governor FENTON, as successor to Mr. H. H. VAN DYCK, now Assistant Treasurer of the United States, at New York. This appointment is very gratifying to the banks of the State, Mr. H. having become perfectly familiar with the duties of the position, and possessing the numerous characteristics requisite for this important office.

MR. EMERSON KEYES, for several years Deputy State Superintendent of Public Instruction, of the State of New York, has received the appointment of Deputy Superintendent of the Bank Department of the State as successor to Mr. HAND.

NATIONAL BANKS.—It has been decided by the Comptroller of the Currency, that an oath rightfully administered by an assessor or assistant assessor of the United States, requires no affixture of a stamp, but the capacity of these officers is limited. Their power, by virtue of their offices, goes no farther than the business of such offices, and an oath administered by either of them, unless to a statement pertaining strictly to that business, is void. Their commissions in no way confer upon them the office of Notary Public or Justice of the Peace.

At the expiration of the charter, on the first day of January, 1855, the bank was reorganized under the General Banking Law of the State of New York, and on the ninth day of August, 1865, the association was converted into the "National Broome County Bank of Binghamton." Few banks in the country have been so prosperous or enjoy a better reputation. It has passed through all the commercial crises of the last thirty-five years without once faltering in the discharge of its obligations to the public, and is justly esteemed one of the soundest and best managed institutions in the State. Richmond.—The Richmond National Bank occupies the building and succeeds to the business of the late branch at Richmond of the Bank of the State of Indiana. Officers, C. F. COFFIN, President; A. H. BLANCHARD, Cashier; capital $200,000, all paid in. It is a designated depository of the United States. The late Branch Bank was a well-managed and very successful institution. It commenced business in 1857, since which time it has made regular dividends of five per cent. each six months—paid back its capital stock, $300,000, and made extra dividends of $340,000. Its discount line was large, and scarcely any thing was lost in bad debts. Its circulation, which was at one time $600,000, is already reduced to less than $35,000, and is rapidly returning.

President, JOHN C. LATHAM; Cashier, JAMES A. WALLACE.

Louisiana.—The President of the Board of State Assessors of Louisiana requested the opinion of the Attorney-General as to the liability of the free banks and insurance offices to taxation for State purposes. In his reply the Attorney-General concludes:—

"The inference is, that banks and corporations doing business in the State are not liable, under the act of 1865, to be assessed beyond the capital actually paid in.

"The capital stock of the National Bank is taxable; care, however, should be taken in making this assessment not to include the bonds of the United States, deposited according to act of Congress with the United States Treasurer. These bonds are but securities. They are not a part of the capital of the bank, and should not be taxed as such.

"B. L. LYNCH, Attorney-General."

Michigan.—The First National Bank of Marshall, Calhoun County, Michigan (No. 1515), was organized in August, with a capital of $100,000, limited to $250,000. President, CHARLES T. GORHAM, late private banker at that place; Cashier, GEORGE S. WRIGHT.

Detroit.—The American National Bank of Detroit will commence business at the old office of A. H. DEY, on or about the 1st of September. The business of Mr. DEY and of the Farmers and Mechanics' Bank will be closed, and turned over to the American National Bank.

Michigan Banks.—The Farmers and Mechanics' Bank of Detroit is closing up its affairs preparatory to retiring from business. It is now calling in its notes for redemption, which are redeemed as fast as presented. Within two weeks it has redeemed $15,000, leaving about $27,000 outstanding. This is one of the oldest existing banking institutions in the State, having been organized the 5th of November, 1829. The earliest bank chartered in the Northwest was by the old Territorial Board of Governors and Judges of Michigan, on the 15th of September, 1806. It continued to exist until 1809, when its charter was revoked by Congress. From 1809 to 1818 there was no local currency in Michigan, the paper of New York and Ohio constituting the chief paper circulation. The old Bank of Michigan was the second banking institution organized in the Northwest. It was incorporated by the Governor and Judges in 1818, and continued to do business until 1840. It became a gigantic institution, having a large capital, its deposits sometimes amounting to nearly $3,000,000. The Farmers and Mechanics' Bank was the next on record, and for several years these two were rival institutions, and both became depositories of the United States Government. The issuing of the specie circular—requiring that all Government deposits should be paid in coin—was a hard blow to both banks. The Farmers and Mechanics' Bank was better sustained by its stockholders than was the Bank of Michigan, and the former weathered the storm, though considerably crippled. The State Bank of Michigan was organized by the Legislative Council of the Territory somewhere about the year 1832, and was comparatively a modern institution. The history of the Farmers and Mechanics' Bank is full of romance and interest, and if somebody would undertake to write out some chapters that we wot of, our business community would be amused, instructed, and confounded.—Detroit Advertiser.

Minnesota.—The First National Bank of Red Wing, Goodhue County, Minnesota (No. 1487), was organized in July, with a capitul of $50,000, limited to $100,000. President, THEODORE B. SHELDON; Cashier, JESSE MCINTIRE. Their New York correspondent is the National Park Bank. The new bank succeeds to the business of the firm of SMITH & DICKINSON.

EWING; Cashier, ROBERT K. WOODS; both of the late Merchants' Bank in that city; Vice-President, ROBERT CAMPBELL. Their New York correspondent is the Bank of America.

Independence.—The First National Bank of Independence, Jackson County, Mo. (No. 1529), was organized in August, with a capital of $50,000, limited to $100,000. President, PRESTON ROBERTS; Cashier, DAVID WALDO, Cashier of the late Branch Southern Bank at that place.

Tennessee.—The Northern Bank of Tennessee, at Clarksville, discontinued business in the year 1862. Now that peace is restored, and trade begins to follow its accustomed channels, the business of this bank is resumed at its old banking house, and will be conducted upon the same principles as formerly. Its circulation, now reduced to about five thousand dollars, will be redeemed as presented, and not reissued.

Collections promptly attended to throughout the State. Its officers are, D. N. KENNEDY, President; JAMES L. GLENN, Cashier. The bank refers to the AMERICAN EXCHANGE NATIONAL BANK, New York; BANK OF THE UNION, Nashville; GILMORE, DUNLAP & Co., Bankers, Cincinnati; FALLS CITY BANK, Louisville. It will be remembered that this bank did not suspend payment during the panic of '57, or in the war panic of '61, when nearly every bank in the United States was forced to suspension, but, on the other hand, paid gold for its notes up to the fall of Fort Donelson, at which time it closed active business. Even during the past four years its notes were always redeemed when presented, and its depositors paid in funds current at the time. (See their card on the cover of this work.)

Wisconsin.—The National City Bank of Milwaukee (No. 1483) was organized in July, and commenced business August 1st, with a capital of $100,000, limited to $500,000. NATIONAL BANKS.—It is understood that the authorized amount of national currency has been exhausted, and that no more national banks will at present be chartered, except only those whose papers were filed in due form prior to August 1, 1865. It follows, for like reason, that the capital stock of those in operation cannot at present be increased. The clear understanding of these facts by the business public of the country will obviate useless correspondence, and relieve the Currency Bureau of much labor in answering letters.—National Intelligencer, August 19.

PRIVATE BANKERS.

TO PRIVATE BANKERS.—The publisher of the BANKERS' MAGAZINE proposes to issue shortly the "BANKERS' ALMANAC FOR 1866," which will contain accurate lists of the State and National Banks throughout the United States; also the names of private banks in every city and town in the United States; with the name of the New York correspondent of each, where this information can be obtained. Those bankers who have not already forwarded their cards or names for the list, are requested to do so at once. To subscribers to the BANKERS' MAGAZINE the price will be $1.50 per copy. To all others, $2.

Advertising is the important medium by which persons become known to those at a distance. It is especially important to bankers, in view of the political revolutions and financial revulsions of late years, and of the failures which have marked the year 1865. It is equally important to the Western and Southern banker that he should have a correspondent in New York of a perfectly reliable character, and free from all taint of speculation. By the Eastern banker, merchant, and manufacturer, who has occasion to employ a Western banker, the latter is judged according to the position, means, and character of his New York correspondent. Hence the judgment and discrimination required in the selection of a New York correspondent, by those who leave a large portion of their ready means in New York to meet the daily demands for exchange. In many cases, heretofore, it has been the case to select those who allow the largest interest on current balances, without close regard to the means and standing of the Wall street banker. This is no longer the case; and it would be well for country bankers to know that, as a general rule, those who allow an extra rate of interest on current deposits, are apt to be most in need of the capital of others for their own speculations. To compensate the New York banker for the interest which he pays to his country correspondents, he must, NECESSARILY, loan out more than half of such deposits.

The increasing business between New York and the South and West will induce many bankers to give greater publicity to the cards of their firms. The difficulty of making the collection of negotiable paper in the South and West has long been felt by Eastern bankers, as the standing and responsibility of Western bankers were not well known. In order to obviate this inconvenience, and to enable Eastern bankers, as well as Western firms, to place their collection paper in reliable hands, East and West, we have prepared and printed a "List of Private Bankers," with the name of the New York correspondent of each, so that the standing of country bankers could be readily ascertained by inquiries at New Yerk. In addition to this copious and authentic list, which is contained in the BANKERS' ALMANAC FOR 1865, the pages of the BANKERS' MAGAZINE and BANKERS' ALMANAC contain the cards of numerous bankers in the South and West, with their New York references. With this information in their hands, bankers need not be at a loss to select reliable correspondents throughout the country.

The cards of bankers inserted in the advertisement sheet of this work will reach banks and bankers in every State, city, and town in the United States, and in the leading cities of Europe.

For the trifling sum of twenty dollars, a banker may, through the advertising pages of the BANKERS' MAGAZINE, make himself known immediately to thousands of banks, bankers, and capitalists throughout all parts of the United States, and in foreign cities. If an Eastern or Southern or Western banker secures by such advertisement one good account, he is amply repaid for the outlay; but it will ordinarily lead to various new accounts, and an enlarged correspondence.

The new act of Congress imposes a tax upon bankers of $100, annually, where the capital does not exceed $50,000, and $2 additional for every $1,000 used in excess of $50,000.

Miners shall pay for each and every license the sum of $10 annual license.

Copies of the Internal Revenue Act of 1864, and Amendments of 1865, all in one volume, octavo, can be had at the office of the BANKERS' MAGAZINE, $1.25.

Copies can be had at the BANKERS' MAGAZINE office (price one dollar) of "HANNAY'S ROYAL ALMANAC for 1865," containing the names of twenty-eight hundred Banks and Bankers in Europe, Asia, South America, West Indies, Australia, and other parts of the world; Names of Members of the English House of Peers and House of Commons; British Navy List, &c.

THE DAILY PRICE OF GOLD AT NEW YORK.

In the preceding numbers of the Bankers' Magazine we gave to our readers tabular statements showing the daily fluctuations in the market values of gold at New York, from June, 1862, to May, 1865. We propose to continue this record from month to month, as a portion of the financial history of the times.

Notes on the Money Market.

NEW YORK, AUGUST 26, 1865.

Exchange on London, at sixty days' sight, 109½ @ 109¾ for gold.

THE market for the month of August has been seriously disturbed by the lamentable and extraordinary defalcations and failures which are recorded in a prior portion of this number. The immediate result of these announcements and developments was to throw large quantities of hypothecated securities on the market, and to lessen confidence, for the time, in all classes of shares and bonds. Numerous borrowers "on call" were notified to take up their loans immediately; thus compelling these parties to seek accommodation elsewhere. The mere shifting of loans, at any time, produces a stir in the market; and, in many cases, a forced sale of these hypothecated collaterals.

Public confidence has been severely shaken by these recent disclosures; and less disposition is shown by capitalists to deposit with parties who are known to be members of, or speculators at, the Stock Board. A rigid scrutiny has been instituted by most lenders into the character of collaterals held for money loaned. The market has, in part, recovered from the shock, and country bankers and capitalists are availing themselves of the more advanced rates of discount to purchase good commercial paper.

Money this week is abundant at 6 per cent. to favorite borrowers. There is an occasional transaction "on call" at five per cent., but, at this rate, the loans are only on prominent securities. Money is in demand at 7 per cent. in the street, which is the minimum to general borrowers. First-class commercial paper, indorsed, is taken at 7 @ 8 per cent. Manufacturers' drafts on city agents, at sixty days to four months, are passed at 7 to 9 per cent., and are sought by New England and New York country banks. There are other grades of paper now, and at all times, on the market, which find purchasers, at present, at 9 @ 12 per cent.; such paper as is readily discounted in bank for regular customers.

New York has never held such a large amount of available capital, as at present, for business purposes and stock transactions. The aggregate loans of the bank members of the Clearing House are about 210 millions. To these may be added the loans of several national banks not in the Clearing House; and the loans of private bankers and trust companies, commanding as much capital as the chartered banks; making the aggregate loans in this city probably over 400 millions of dollars. The aggregate bank capital of this city is $81,120,200.

At Philadelphia the banks report, as formerly, through the Clearing House, although they are all under the National Act. The following are the returns for the past month:—

1865.	Loans.	Specie.	Legal Tender.	Deposits.	Circulation.	Exchanges.

Foreign exchange for this week's steamers is somewhat firmer. Bankers' bills on London, at sixty days, are quoted at 109½ @ 109¾; on Paris, 5, 20 @ 5, 15 francs per dollar; on Antwerp, 5, 18¾ @ 5, 16¼ francs. Swiss, 5, 17½ @ 5 francs, 15 centimes, per dollar. On Hamburg, 35¾ @ 36½ cents per marc banco; on Amsterdam, 40¼ @ 41 cents per guilder; on Frankfort, 40½ @ 40¾ cents per florin; on Bremen, 78¾ @ 79½ cents per rix dollar; Prussian thalers, 71 @ 71½ cents. The shipment of gold to Europe this season is more limited than of late years; the aggregate from the port of New York from January 1st to the middle of August, being only $19,217,000. Compared with previous years, the exports have been as follows from January to the 20th August:—

1854	$22,281,000	1858	$17,061,000	1862	$37,835,000
1855	20,864,000	1859	47,496,000	1863	27,583 000
1856	22,638,000	1860	32,432,000	1864	31,580,000
1857	31,827,000	1861	3,263,000	1865	19,217,000

The fall in miscellaneous securities in consequence of the failure of Messrs. Ketchum, Son & Co. was produced by the sudden pressure upon the market on account of collateral loans. Government securities have been well sustained throughout the month. The bonds of 1881 are well held at 106¾ offered, 107½ asked. The five per cents due in 1874 command 96. Ohio State sixes are firm at 97½ @ 99, with few in the market; Kentucky are held at 95 @ 97; Indiana, 97 @ 98; Virginia, 55 @ 56; North Carolina, 73½ @ 75; Missouri, 70¾ @ 71; Tennessee, 72½ @ 74; Louisiana, 68 @ 69; Pennsylvania five per cents, 92 @ 93.

We annex the highest cash prices offered, for eight weeks past, at the dates named, for the Government and leading State securities in this market:—
